THE COACHES

JOHN DORE HEAD COACH

Few coaches in Canada have won a CIAU National Championship yet the Concordia head coach achieved the feat in his first year at the helm of the Stingers. For those who have followed John's career, first as a player at Loyola/Concordia, as head of physical education at St. George's High School, and then as an assistant coach at his alma mater, the results of last year's championship season come as no surprise. Wherever he went, whatever task he undertook, John met the challenge with unqualified success.

John came to Montreal in 1971 and played four years on the Loyola and then Concordia basketball teams. He was voted to the league all-star team three times and represented the school in three national championships.

Upon graduation, John accepted a position as department head of physical education and athletics at St. George's High School and was named assistant basketball coach of the Concordia women's team. His coaching career then took him to Vanier College where he compiled a 35-25 record and two playoff appearances in a two-year stint. He returned to his alma mater in 1982 to become Doug Daigneault's number one assistant. He remained in that capacity until last June when he was selected to replace Doug Daigneault. And, the rest of history.

A native of Queen's, New York, John has been involved with the Sun Youth "Youth-East" team for two years. During the summer months John is the coordinator of the Fast Break Basketball Camp at Bishop's University. This September John was appointed Coordinator of Marketing & Communications for the department.

John and his wife Malka reside in the Town of Mount Royal with daughters Lisa and Lauren.

HARVEY LIVERMAN ASSISTANT COACH

When John Dore accepted the head coaching job at Concordia in the summer of 1989 he insisted on retaining assistant Harvey Liverman, knowing that Harvey's presence was essential to the team's success. Harvey provides the team not only with his basketball expertise, but also his genuine love for the game and Concordia.

Harvey, a dedicated and enthusiastic player with Loyola College from 1968-72, has approached his position at Concordia with equal determination since 1985. In addition to his responsibilities on the court, Harvey is actively involved in recruiting committed athletes and students to the team-players who can carry Concordia's tradition of excellence into the 90's.

A fine all-around athlete, Harvey excelled in basketball. While on route to three MVP seasons with the Northmount High School "hoopsters", Harvey averaged 33 points a game. As a slick-fielding third baseman with the St. Henri Juniors, he was scouted by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Harvey was instrumental in the Canadian team's bronze medal performance in the 1989 Maccabi Games as an assistant coach.

TEN YEAR TEAM :

BASKETBALL

The 1984-85 season marked the 10th anniversary of the Concordia varsity sports program. In recognition of this milestone, Concordia's Director of Athletics, Dr. Edmund F. Enos announced all-ten-year teams. Eight accomplished athletes were named to the men's basketball team, as selected by alumni, present members of the Concordia community and the media.

JOHN DORE - 1975-76 season - John played most of his basketball for the Loyola Warriors but ended his playing career by having an outstanding season with the first ever Concordia Stinger basketball squad. He was a conference all-star, averaged 15 points a game and was one of the best defensive players ever to wear a Concordia uniform. After serving as athletic director of St-Georges High School, John is now the full-time head coach of the Concordia Stingers.

RON PUSKARICH - 1975-76 and 1976-77 seasons - Ron also started playing with the Loyola Warriors and wound up his career with the Stingers. With the Stingers, Ron became the team's leading scorer and was named to the all-Canadian team. Ron lives in Alberta now where he works for the city of Calgary.

JOHN ERLIS - 1975-76 and 1976-77 seasons - John was the third man that made at first the Warriors, then the Stingers a force to reckon with nationally. He was an outstanding point guard and played on the early Stinger teams that competed in the national championship tournaments. John is presently in business in New York.

GARY MCKEIGAN - 1979-80 through to 1982-83 seasons - During Gary's four years with the team, the Stingers went to three national tournaments. He was a team captain and all-Canadian center. Gary still plays basketball in Toronto for one of Canada's top senior teams and he is also a school teacher.

DOUG WHALEY - 1979-80 and 1980-81 seasons - Doug only played with Concordia for two seasons but he made quite an impact. During his career with the Stingers he earned All-League Honours and was the team's leading scorer. Doug now lives in New Jersey where he is a businessman.

STEVE MACNEILL - 1979-80 through 1983-84 seasons - Steve played for five years with Concordia and was an exceptional guard but what he really brought to the team was leadership. He, of course, was the team captain. Steve is working for General Foods in Toronto.

BIAGIO CARESSE - 1982-83 through 1985-86 seasons - BJ, as he is known to his friends and teammates at Concordia, has received many honors during his four years with the Stingers. He has been a Quebec all-star many times and was named MVP at the Centennial Basketball tournament but his strength is not scoring even though he does that very well. His greatest contribution to Concordia has been his sportsmanship, leadership and inspirational play. BJ, a four-year veteran of the RCMP is stationed in New Brunswick.

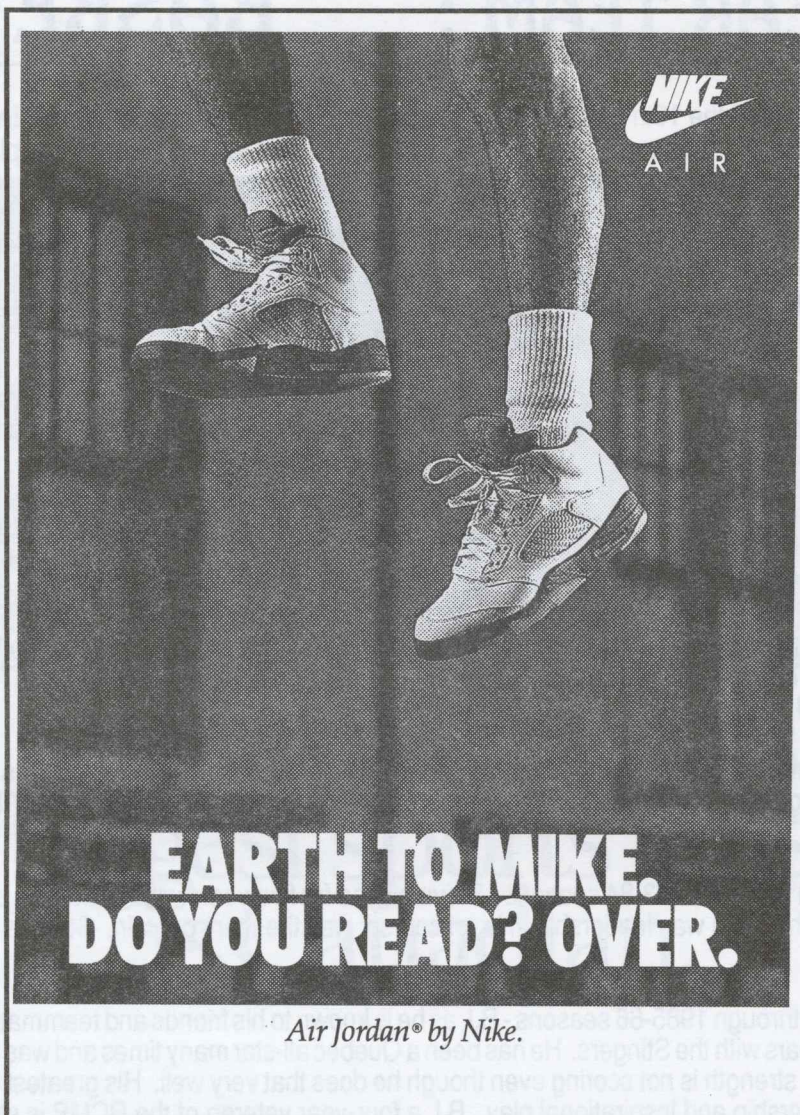

CRAIG NORMAN - 1982-83 to 1987-88 seasons - Craig played five years for the Stingers, and has B.A. and M.A. degrees while enjoying an outstanding cage career. He was named the three league all-star team and was named to the 1987 All-Canadian team. Craig, a late cut from the 1988 Olympic team, is a social worker and assistant coach with the Champlain Cougars.

Concordia's P

When John Dore assumed the role of head coach of the Concordia University Stingers, he did not mind his work when asked to evaluate the Stinger's chances for the 1989-90 season. As reported by the Gazette's university sports reporter Randy Phillips, Dore was confident that Concordia could be the first Quebec school to win a C.I.A.U. National Championship.

"As brash as it might sound," said Dore, "if we get the people we want I don't think we'll be far from a national championship."

- Wednesday, June 14, 1989, Montreal Gazette

Dore and assistant coach Harvey Liverman got to work immediately setting up policies that would turn the Stingers from National also-rans to champions. Weight-training, pre-season running program and the institution of team concept gave the team momentum as they opened the season in early November with the 25th annual Nike Centennial Tournament. In the opening round they knocked off the third-ranked UPEI Panthers in an exciting overtime victory behind Nick Arvanitis' 27 points and 16 rebounds. However the Stingers ran into trouble on and off the court and suffered a 118-89 defeat in the hands of the UBC Thunderbirds.

The Stingers regrouped and recorded key wins against American schools such as Potsdam State, Allentown College, and the University of District of Columbia, and had a 14-3 record at the Christmas break.

But Dore and the boys pulled together and went about pursuing goal number one - winning the league championship. That pursuit suffered a slight setback when the Bishop's Gaiter's upset Concordia 87-86 in an overtime game to hand them their first league defeat of the season. But led by the leadership of co-captains Nick Arvanitis and Mike Baker, the Stingers brought their play to a higher level to capture the regular season championship with a 15-3 league record. A tribute to the total team concept that Dore espoused was the fact that the first-place Stingers did not place anyone on the first all-star team (swing guard Mike Cohee and Dino Perin were selected to the second team).

In anticipation of the playoffs most Quebec basketball fans correctly predicted a third Bishop's-Concordia match, a winner-take-all battle for a berth in the National Championships. The Stingers dumped Ottawa 109-71 while Bishop's upended McGill 85-65 setting the stage for the rubber match. However the game was not the nailbiter that the capacity crowd expected.

Bishop's coach Eddie Pomykala was succinct in defeat: "The best team won."

Eighth-ranked Concordia roared back from early first-half jitters to swamp the Gaiters 76-60 and win the Ontario University Athletic Association east section men's basketball championship before an overflow crowd of 800 at Loyola Gym last night.

Veteran swing-forward Mike Cohee scored 20 points while team captain Nick Arvanitis and centre Dino Perin added 19 and 17 respectively, as the Stingers advanced to the National Championship

CONCORDIA CLASSIC TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The 1990 Concordia Classic should hold true to the tourney's tradition of providing Montreal basketball fans with outstanding basketball action.

Heading the field this year will be the defending national champion Laurentian Vees. Peter Ennis has 10 returnees from last year's squad including members of the Canadian National Team Programme.

The Concordia Women's Basketball Classic has been a premier event in university athletics since 1972 when Loyola College co-ordinator of women's athletics Pat Boland hosted the Loyola Women's Invitational. Although the event has gone through several name changes, it continues to attract some of the top women's basketball teams in Canada.

A tournament historian will note that since Dalhousie University won the first title in 1972, the Classic has showcased outstanding players and teams from Canada and the United States. The 1976 tournament was perhaps the most competitive and exciting with 14 members of the Canadian National Team in action. The Stingers upended the eventual National Champion Laurentian Vees 72-67 to win their only Classic Championship. Liz Silcott became the only player to be named Most Valuable Player twice.

A strong component of the Classic has been the play of powerful American entries. Queen's College (N.Y.), Southern Connecticut, Providence, and St. John's all captured tournament championships and later competed in the NCAA/AIAW National tournament in the U.S. The Bishop's Lady Gaiters first gained national recognition at the Concordia Classic. Behind the play of former Stinger and National Team Member Debbie Huband Bishop's captured the 1979 tourney. Bishop's were repeat winners in 1980 as they downed St. John's (N.Y.). Concordia All-Canadian Joann Bourque was selected tournament M.V.P. as she set a tournament record with 78 points. They repeated in 1983 as National Team Member Andrea Blackwell set two tournament records and the Gaiters defeated U.N.B. in the final. Blackwell scored 43 points in the final and 81 points in the tournament. Both of these totals remain Classic Records.

Laurentian were repeat winners in 1984 and 1985 as Nan Copp winner Carol Hamilton led the Vees to consecutive Championships. The McGill Martlets won the Classic in both 1986 and 1987. In 1988 the Winnipeg Wesmen won their first Classic crown as All-Canadian Margaret Mulder led the team to a 69-47 victory over Laurentian.

Last year the Laurentian Vees, behind the M.V.P. performance of Shirleen McLean, captured their sixth tournament title en route to a national championship. In 17 tournaments, the eventual CIAU champions have participated in 9 of them.

ath to Glory

for the second year in a row.

Rookie guard Robert Ferguson, who shone in a defensive role by holding Gaiters point-guard David King to eight points, sank a pair of free throws to snap up a 20-20 tie with 6:30 to go - and the Stingers never looked back.

March 4, 1990. Montreal Gazette

The Stingers seeded fourth in the CIAU Nationals, were starting to get some respect as noted by Peter Barnsley in The Globe and Mail on the eve of the Nationals in Halifax.

Concordia, on the other hand, may be the tournament dark horse. Coach John Dore has two good big men, 6-foot-8, in Dino Perin and Nick Arvanitis, plus a lot of quickness in the backcourt. Lack of depth might be a problem, but the OUAA East Champions could be best branded as deceptively good.

March 16, 1990, Globe and Mail

Concordia faced St. Francis Xavier, a local favourite of the 7 000 fans in the Halifax Metro Centre, in the first round of the Nationals. St. Frances jumped in front early and held a 36-26 half-time lead. Sparked by freshman Robert Ferguson with 21 points, the Stingers rallied for a 76-71 victory. Nick Arvanitis (15), Dino Perin (13) and Mike Baker (11) added to the Stinger cause.

The following night Concordia was forced to play another local team (the Acadia Axemen) before yet another enthusiastic hometown crowd. This time, however, it was Concordia first off the blocks. The Stingers led by the inside play of Arvanitis (27 points) and super-sub Ernie Rosa (11 points) jumped off to a 48-32 half-time lead. Acadia roared back in the second half and tied the score at 74 with 2 1/2 minutes remaining in the game. Nick Arvanitis then hit a pair of foul shots to break the tie and put Concordia into their first national final against the Guelph Gryphons.

Mary Ormsby of the Toronto Star aptly described the final game in her story.

The Gryphons were hanged, drawn and quatered by the Concordia Stingers in an 80-62 blowout that earned the Montreal school the 1990 Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union championship.

Before a crowd of 4 713 at the Halifax Metro Centre, Concordia which plays in the Ontario Universities Athletic Association Eastern Section, became the first Quebec school to win the Canadian title.

Big favourite

Although the Gryphons had squeaked past the Stingers by only one point in overtime during last week's OUAA championship, Guelph was the overwhelming favourite to win the CIAU crown

However, the Stingers never considered themselves the underdogs.

"Very few people gave us the chance to get here and even fewer gave us a chance to win it," said Stingers co-captain Nick Arvanitis, who was selected the tournament's most valuable player.

"We believed in ourselves and that's what mattered the most."

March 19, 1990, The Toronto Star

And that belief carried the Stingers to their first national championship.

THE COACHES

LOUISA ZERBE

HEAD COACH

When Louisa Zerbe accepted the position of women's basketball head coach at Concordia in 1987, she was faced with the most challenging coaching job in the country. Once a national power, the fortunes of the female cagers came upon hard times in the late 1980's, and the programme needed a person of Zerbe's calibre to put it back on its feet. And that is exactly what the British Columbia native has done.

Louisa came to Concordia from the University of Lethbridge where she developed the Pronghorns into a national contender and had been active in provincial and national programmes. The team was ranked in the CIAU Top 10 for the duration of her tenure as head coach and in her final year the Pronghorns captured the bronze medal at the CIAU Nationals. As well, the Edmonton native was named CIAU Women's Basketball Coach of the Year in 1984-85 and conference Coach of the Year on two different occasions. Along with her duties as head coach, Louisa served as Assistant Athletic Director for Lethbridge.

The same principles that led to the Pronghorns' dramatic turn-around are now being implemented in the Stingers' programme. Zerbe continues to build her teams around highly gifted athletes who understand the importance of team play. A big step forward in this building process was taken during the 1989-90 season when the team broke a 47 game losing streak and battled for a playoff berth until the final game of the season.

Louisa grew up in Vancouver and played for the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds from 1972-77 while obtaining a Bachelor and Masters degree in Physical Education specializing in Sport Psychology. In addition to coaching, Zerbe is actively involved in the operations of the Athletic Department as Coordinator of the Athletic Programme area.

PADDIE CHIARA

ASSISTANT COACH

Paddie is a former standout athlete at Concordia who returned to her alma mater three years ago to help Louisa. While at Concordia, Paddie was a league all-star and helped both teams to league championships. Paddie has served as Coordinator of Athletics at Dawson College for the past 7 years.

RICHARD ALLEN

ASSISTANT COACH

Richard begins his first year on the Concordia coaching staff. An outstanding athlete in his own right, Richard brings a strong basketball background to the programme. Richard also coaches at Verdun High School and in the Dawson Community programme.

PAUL MEANEY

ASSISTANT COACH

Paul begins his third year and assistant to coach Zerbe and has proven to be an invaluable asset to the programme. Paul's coaching experience has included stints with the Sud Ouest, Dawson Boys and Girls, Unity Boys and Girls, Sun Youth and Vanier College.
